Dear Duncan,

A question related with your last visit to Moscow:

- if you still keep an interest to the problem of data base about potential chemical explosives based on nontraditional organic species, I may inform you that we are able and willing to participate at the Workshop in London in April dedicated to this subject. A group of professional Russian people (3-4 persons) can come with certain proposals how to realize such a project on international basis.

Thank you for your prompt answer.

Very sincerely,
